Old Landmark Coming Down

One of Drayton Valley's old originals, the former Western Review office, was being torn-down this week. Dating back to pre-war days, the building in its lifetime served as a residence, post office, variety store, and finally newspaper office. The building was built about 1934 by Charles Morin and then sold about 1938 to Mr. Jack Tucker for a residence and post office. The Tuckers also operated a variety store in the building.

Increased Vote to Elect Mayor, Three Councillors

A record 729 voters turned out at the poll last Wednesday to elect Mr. Lloyd MacLean as Mayor of Drayton Valley and Councillors Mrs. Betty Waugh, Bob Mayhew and Claude Albert. Separate School supporters elected Emile Lambert to the school board.

In the mayoralty race, Mr. MacLean won out over Mr. Tom Johnson by a margin of fifty-six votes. Mr. MacLean received 385 votes and Mr. Johnson, 329. Seven ballots were spoiled and eight rejected.

Mrs. Waugh led the poll for council members with 458 votes followed closely by Bob Mayhew with 447 and Claude Albert, 388.

Unsuccessful bids for council seats were made by Allan Malloy with 284 votes, Ernest Stables, 216 and Denis Meier, 63. Seven ballots were spoiled and ten rejected.

Successful Hunters To Receive Crests

Alberta Department of Lands and Forests is awarding crests again this year to successful mule deer hunters.

The crest, a colorful sewn jacket patch, proclaims its wearer to be "Successful Mule Deer Hunter 1970", and is presented to any hunter who presents the cleaned lower jawbone of a mule deer at a district or regional office of the Fish and Wildlife Division of the department.

The reason for the crest awards is to collect information on age and sex of mule deer harvested in the province. If an adequate number of jaws are received, wildlife biologists will analyze the findings and determine the average age and male-female ratio of mule deer herds in various parts of Alberta.

Productivity of the different herds can then be ascertained, along with data on the current take of mule deer. Then if necessary, hunting regulations will be adjusted so that the mule deer resources can be better managed.

To the hunter, proper game management means better hunting now and in the future.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

The week which ushered out the Second Session of this Parliament and ushered in the third, was an interesting one indeed. Not only was an old legislative program completed and a new one announced, but a number of very interesting Senate appointments were made also.

Of most interest to Albertans was the selection of former Alberta premier, Ernest C. Manning, to the Canadian Senate. When Prime Minister Trudeau chose to appoint Mr. Manning, along with seven other distinguished Canadians to the Senate, he broke away from the tradition of appointing only supporters of the party in power.

The latest Senators beside Mr. Manning, include four others who are Liberal party supporters. These five new members of the Red Chamber will ensure that for the first time in Canada's history all four established political parties will be represented in the Upper House.

The Speech from the Throne opening the Third Session of the 28th Parliament was delivered by Governor-General Michener on October 8th. The most far-reaching of the numerous legislative proposals which it contained called for the establishment of a department to deal with urban affairs with housing, and another to deal with the environment. The need for such departments has become urgent in the past two years.

Other important legislation proposed relates to consumers and employees. In the words of the Throne Speech:

"Every Canadian is a consumer of goods and services . . To face today's competitive marketing system the consumer requires protection in a number of respects. Measures will be introduced, therefore, to protect Canadians more adequately from the results of combines, mergers, and unfair trade practices, to regulate the labelling and packaging of consumer goods and to further protect the users of consumer credit."

In the labour field Parliament will be asked to approve a new legal framework for labour management relations and a new set of labour standards for industries within Federal jurisdiction.

Altogether almost fifty bills are to be dealt with by the present session of Parliament. In addition other matters will be considered such as White Papers on communications. citizenship, immigration, national defence, and income security policy.

It should be mentioned that the Session of Parliament which ended on October 7th, was an extremely productive one. More than sixty items of legislation were passed in the almost twelve months of that session.

Included in the record of the past session are such important acts as the Canada Water Act, the Northern Inland Waters Act, the Territorial Waters Act and amendments to the Fisheries Act. All these Acts will help in the fight to save our waters from the growing menace of pollution. Also passed were acts to ensure our sovereignty in the Arctic and the waters of the North.

Approximately 10,000 of the 12,000 muscles in a wild goose's body are used to control the action of its feathers.

Has UNICEF Taken the Fun Out of Hallowe'en

This year, about 3/4 million children all across Canada, most of them under 12, will become, for a few short hours, the most important part of international aid in Canada.

At Hallowe'en armed with their familiar black and orange boxes they collect, along with Hallowe'en treats, a major part of UNICEF's Canadian income, mostly in pennies and nickels. The money they raise -- last year about $666,000 -- goes to help children much the same age as themselves in the developing countries of the world, with long term programs of education, health care, nutrition and, where necessary, emergency aid.

Before they start collecting, a great deal of activity takes place behind the scenes. Boxes have to be distributed and the young collectors have to be told the reasons why they are collecting and the good their money will do. Many volunteers and organizations assist in the work of preparing the children for their important night. Afterwards comes the task of counting and banking the money.

All of this sounds most worthy and commendable, but quite frankly, don't the kids find this serious stuff a bit of a drag Wouldn't they be happier if we just left them to collect sacks of candy?

Probably the best answer is to let the children speak for themselves. Here are excerpts from just a few of the many letters that UNICEF received from them after last year's Hallowe'en campaign:

"On Hallowe'en night, I thought about you more than candy" "For the ones who are sick and the ones who have no clothes, I hope you get some" "Soon as you get the money I hope you will be happy for the rest of your life" "On Hallowe'en we were given UNICEF boxes to collect money. We counted it and rolled it. We took it to the bank. They counted it ans said we were right. We hope you have fun with your money" "I was a ghost"

If you need further proof that children have MORE fun with modern style Hallowe'en -- that they have learnt the joy that comes from sharing with others -- take a look at the fact behind the collection box on October 31st. Maybe the rest of us could learn something from them, too.

Take an egg...
The hen that laid this egg was doing what came naturally. But man must take care of what nature forgot. Bringing a quality fresh egg to your breakfast table takes careful poultry stock breeding, proper feeding, housing and heating. Then nature's egg must be graded, packed and transported.
The electricity that cooks your egg also plays a part in its production. But the "care and feeding" of more than a dozen power plants is a costly business. So is the operation of power line systems and control equipment.
Like the farmer, we have to give nature a hand. And we do everything in our power to keep the price of a "natural" product low. Electricity is one household product that costs less than 20 years ago. It's something to think about when you crack an egg into the frypan!

Enormous Expansion of Artificial Insemination

A total of 114,000 beef cows were bred by artificial insemination last year, representing a 20 per cent increase over the 1968 figure.

H.G. Jeffery, supervisor of artificial insemination with the Alberta animal industry division, reports that artificial insemination by beef sires increased 40 per cent to a total of 62,600 first services. There were 51,477 first services to dairy sires, 42,600 of which were to Holstein bulls.

This recent growth trend is extremely gratifying, says Mr. Jeffery, considering that A.I. breedings had levelled off during the previous five years to from 90,000 to 95,000 cows. He feels that most of the present expansion has been stimulated by the interest in cross-breeding and imported cattle breeds.

The approximate number of services to the different breeds were Charolais 19,000; Hereford 12,100; Angus 11,300; Simmental 9,000; Shorthorn 3,000; Brown Swiss 2,700 and Limousin 2,200.

Because the seasonal nature of beef breeding demands a large number of qualified technicians for a short period of time, the Alberta A.I. regulations were amended to provide for licensing technicians on the basis of an acceptable A.I. course and an assessment of the number of calves born to A.I. in an owner-operator program. Many of the cattlemen who have become licensed technicians are eligible to inseminate cows on a commercial basis under the authorization of a licensed inseminating business.

According to Mr. Jeffery, owner-operator programs have been encouraged by the semen producing businesses in this province which have conducted A.I. stockmen's training programs. In the last year about 20 such courses have been held in various parts of the province and have involved over 500 farmers and ranchers.

In addition 42 commercial technicians were licensed from the Agricultural and Vocational College at Vermilion this year. The courses, under the direction of Murray Gratz, provided comprehensive training in practical techniques and various aspects of reproduction, nutrition, genetics and salesmanship.

"It's all part of an elaborate cover-up . . . he can't skate!"

The role of the inseminating business is also undergoing rapid change, says Mr. Jeffery. Until recently these organizations were mainly concerned with providing an A.I. service. Although this aspect of the business will continue, the units are becoming increasingly involved in distributing semen and in acting as program consultants. The rapid expansion in owner-operator programs is responsible for this change.

Approximately 23,000 cows were serviced by direct semen sales to owner-operator programs representing a 7,000 cow increase over the 1968 figure. Inseminating units serviced 90,700 cows or 10,500 more than in 1968.

At the present time there are three semen producing businesses in the Calgary area and a fourth will be built in the near future. These businesses specialize in custom collection of semen from privately owned bulls.

A considerable proportion of beef semen, particularly from imported bulls, is supplied by these centres. The balance of semen used in the province comes from the Ontario Association of Animal Breeders through Western Animal Breeders's Ltd. of Balzac Alberta; the B.C.A.I. Centre, Milner, B.C. and the American Breeder's Service, DeForest, Wisconsin, U.S.A.

Mr. Jeffery reports that a significant export market for Alberta beef semen has developed both in the United States and in other countries.

"Show me a man with both feet on the ground and I'll show you a man who can't get his pants on."

EVANSBURG NEWS

In spite of the odd snowy day, October seems to be going by with the usual cool weather -- in our area anyway.

Taking advantage of the odd warm day, we saw Dr. and Mrs. Myer out planting tulip bulbs. It is a year since the Myers moved here from Denver and when questioned as to how they liked this location, they both expressed satisfaction in being here and hope to remain in the district indefinitely.

The members of the two 4-H Clubs in the area held their reorganization meeting recently. Several new members were welcomed to the beef and field crops club and, if enough young people are interested a tractor-automotive club may be formed. For more information on this, contact Mr. M. Mazeppa.

Leaving for their home in B.C. after an extensive visit to the Mazeppa home are Mr. and Mrs. J. Carlson, Mr. Mazeppa's sister and her husband.

Back home and back in school after having had surgery in an Edmonton hospital is our son, Jeff Bruner.

During the past ten days many people of the district have been dropping into the village's newest place of business, the Evansburg Family Clothing Centre. This business establishment is located in the building which housed the Evansburg General Store.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Marcotte purchased the general store from Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wolff and have remodelled the whole premises into a most attractive clothing store. During the grand opening days, fall bargains to suit the whole family were on display.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte and their children, Richard and Gisele have come from Sangudo to operate this business and make their home here.

Clean Fuel! Clear Skies!

Natural Gas is the world's cleanest burning fossil fuel.

Here in Alberta, everyone uses Natural Gas for heating. Which is one reason why Alberta has become famous for her clear skies.

Now, because of the universal fight against air pollution, Natural Gas is more valuable than ever, and our company's long-range planning has insured an abundant supply of nature's wonder fuel for our customers.

As an added bonus, natural gas rates in Alberta are among the lowest on the North American continent. So the Alberta consumer doubly benefits.

The world's premium fuel available in abundant supply at reasonable cost — a happy combination that has placed this province in an enviable position, particularly today when the very air we breathe is being recognized as one of this world's most precious commodities.

When you are in Alberta . . . you are in clear sky country — thanks in part to NATURAL GAS.

Plain: "Members of the Parkland County School Committee. The Council of the Town of Stony Plain has considered your application for junior high site and is prepared to approve the application subject to the following conditions:

That the Provincial Planning Board agree to abandan the amount of land owing to the Town for reserve purposes; and

Any change in the siting of the building or the location of the staff parking and bus turnaround facilities must be brought to the attention of the Town Council for approval before any work is begun which does not conform to the above noted site plan.

Council would also like to bring to your attention the fact that the application as submitted does not make adequate allowance for the future expansion of the school nor future vehicle access from the south. Additional land will definitely be required immediately south of the proposed building site in order to ensure the future expansion and accessibility of the school. This matter of additional land can be tabled by your Committee for the time being. Weekly Livestock Report

The Edmonton weekly livestock report for the week ending October 17, 1970 provided by the Livestock Division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

SALES	CATTLE & CALVES	CATTLE	CALVES	SHEEP	HOGS
This week (est.)	7900	4200	3700	1050	4000
Last week	8151	4481	3670	677	4384
Same Week (1969)	7893	4439	3454	395	1901

SUMMARY

Deliveries to the Edmonton Stockyards were fairly heavy this week considering the short work week. Replacements made up the bulk of sales with feeder steers and stock calves predominating. Cattle sales were comprised of one-third slaughter and two-thirds replacements. Of the combined cattle and calf total over 75% went out for feeding. Trade was active on all slaughter classes with the exception of the in between and lower grades of cows and bulls. Steers and heifers 25 - 50 higher. Good cows steady, fair and plain cows 1.00 lower. Bulls 50 cents lower. Veal and butcher calves steady. All replacement classes fully steady.

SLAUGHTER CATTLE AND CALVES

Slaughter steers sold to an active trade at prices 25 - 50 cents higher, although top quality steers were in short supply throughout. Overfinished and heavyweight steers were discounted. Butcher heifers continued to sell strong at prices 25 - 50 higher for the week. Several lots of strictly choice heifers weighing about 800 lbs. sold at 27.00. The cow trade was uneven. Good cows sold to an active demand with most lots selling to 22.00 at midweek, however at the close good cows were selling mostly in the 20.50 - 21.50 range with a few top cows showing some youth selling to 22.00 and some heavier cows bringing only 20.00. Fair and canner cows were hard to move and continued to sell under pressure about 1.00 lower. Bulls 50 cents lower. Veal and butcher calves steady.

SUB-MITS

FROM THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The staff meeting is an integral part of the operation of a school. When you consider a teaching staff of 25, 5 supporting personnel, and a school population of 500 - 600, you can imagine the variety and number of problems that need discussion and majority dicision. This is further complicated by the fact that many problems have no "right" answer. Many possible solutions must be explored.

Staff meetings in Drayton Valley are held on the second Wednesday of the month. Children are dismissed an hour earlier. Just to give you an idea of the topics discussed, I skimmed over the minutes of the meeting held this year and here are some of them: Fire drills; bicycle parking; review of rules; supervision; report by Public Health Nurse on Program carried out in school; ordering of school supplies; parent - teacher interviews; report cards; discussion of audio-visual aids equipment and how to get maximum use of it; best procedure for dismissal.

However regular staff meetings are not the only meetings teachers attend. Each grade has its own individual meeting each month, which deals with problems particular to that grade. Emergencies arise constantly, and special after-school, early morning and noon hour meetings are called when necessary. During the year, various committees take over the planning of a special event such as trackmeet and display day.

The staff sends get-well wishes to Miss Lesley Batten, grade one teacher. In the process of getting rid of a few germs, Miss Batten found she also had allergies to different drugs, which complicated the recovery.

Weather Slows Highway Program

Hon. Gordon E. Taylor, Alberta Minister of Highways and Transport, has reported that unfavorable weather during the month of September substantially hindered the completion of the highway construction program and, unless there is exceptionally good weather during the next month, much of the program will be carried over into the 1971 season.

At the end of September, 80 percent of the grading program was completed of 133.22 miles of new grading; 80 percent of the base course work was completed, being 270.18 miles of new road; 84 percent of the asphaltic surfacing or 297.28 miles was completed. The seal coat program consisting of 248.38 miles was completed.

The program as at the end of September during 1969 was very comparable.

Possibility of Winter Damage By Rodents

People with ornamental, fruit and shelterbelt trees and shrubs are advised to take the necessary measures to protect them against both rabbit and mouse damage this coming winter. Trees growing near native bush are the most vulnerable.

Dale Alsager, animal pest specialist with the Alberta plant industry division, reports that his branch has already received complaints of damage to trees and shrubs from rabbits and mice, and and that the Rochester Wildlife Center near Athabasca is predicting serious tree damage from rabbits again this year.

Following are recommended control measures for rabbits.

1. When only a few individual trees or shrubs are involved, wrap the trunks and lower branches with burlap. The burlap should reach about four feet above the ground to protect the tree in deep snow. Be sure to remove the wrappings as soon as the snow goes in the spring to prevent mold and diseases developing.

2. A fence of 36-inch poultry netting with 1 1/2 inch mesh is practical for protecting a small area of trees. Bury the bottom edge in the ground or cover it with soil. Another row of wire netting, held in place with posts driven into the snow, can be added if the snow gets very deep.

3. Long-lasting commercial repellents, such as Morton Chemical's Z.I.P. or Niagara Rodent Repellent, are probably the most practical form of rabbit control when a large number of trees are involved. They can be used either as a paint or as a spray. Research carried out in the United States indicates that a regular tree fertilizer or properly decomposed organic matter should be applied to the soil at the same time as the repellent to hasten its decompositon in the soil. Repellents, including home-made products, should be used in the late fall when the trees are dry and the temperature is still above freezing. Treat trunks and lower branches to a height of at least two feet above the maximum snow depth for the area.

An excellent home-made repellent can be made by mixing 1 part Arasan 42S (liquid) or Arasan 75 (wettable powder) with 10 parts, by weight, or water emulsifiable black asphalt. Another good home-made repellent consists of 1 part nicotene sulphate (blackleaf 40) and 2 or 3 tablespoonsful of household detergent mixed with 10 parts asphalt emulsion. Home-made repellents must always be strained before being put in a sprayer or the nozzles on the sprayer will become clogged. Thoroughly rinse the spraying apparatus after use with warm water followed by a solvent such as kerosene or varsol.

Mice usually gnaw the bark off or girdle the trunks of trees and shrubs at, or slightly below, ground level.

Ducks Unlimited

FIRST OFF THE MARK

The blue-winged teal, a warm weather duck, heads for the deep south well ahead of freeze-up, usually in early September. They travel far from Canada's prairies, to Mexico, Central America, the West Indies and across the equator to Chile and northern Brazil. Principal nesting grounds are in Canada where Ducks Unlimited projects play a vital role.

STENO'S JOB TO MARRY BOSS

The boss who is intent of preserving his bachelorhood may find his task more difficult, warns the editor of Office Equipment & Methods business publication. He reports that a secretarial school in London, England, has as its stated objective the goal of producing a special breed of secretary: "Each of my girls should marry her boss," explains the school director.

To prepare for this role in life students receive instruction in etiquette, flower arranging, dancing, interior decorating, design, art appreciation, gourmet cooking, selection of antique furniture.

Spare time, if any, is spent on learning the rudiments of typing and dictation.

It's a mark of success when your name is in everything but the telephone directory.

Stony Plain Church Setting for Ceremony

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, October 10th at two o'clock in the United Church at Stony Plain, when Deborah Jean, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole of Keephills, became the bride of Terrance Arlington Lauder of Keephills, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lauder of Devon. Rev. Steele officiated.

The church was decorated with fall colours in bouquets of orange and brown. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Maurice Carter and Soloist was Margaret Schuhardt of Duffield who sang "Because" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was dressed in a floor length gown of white peau de soe with a lace top and train that fell from the waist. A waist length veil was held in place by a feathered headpiece. She wore pearl ear rings for her only jewelery, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was a shade of orange and brown.

Her bridesmaids were her sister Kathy, and Barbara Teague, with Marilyn Waynes as Matron of Honor. Two flower girls, Polly and Darla Kurylo of Drayton Valley, were dressed in identical dresses to the bridesmaids, in orange peau de soe lace tops and trains that fell from the shoulder with yellow flowers in their hair. They carried bouquets of yellow flowers. The dresses were all made by Deborah.

Victor Lauder supported his brother as best man and two attendents were Dave Rogers and Allan Charlett. Craig Cole, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

The ushers were Orville Cole, brother of the bride, and Dale Deinton, nephew of the groom.

A reception was held for 180 guests at The Stony Plain Community Centre. Rev. Steele said grace. Toast to the bride was given by Maurice Carter followed by a toast to the bride's parents by Kenneth Praither cousin of the bride.

Douglas Mac Dougall presented the toast to the groom's parents.

The bride's mother was dressed in a dark blue knit suit with white accessoreies and wore a corsage of roses tinged with blue The groom's mother chose a pale yellow and white fortrell dress with beige accessories and her corsage was white roses tinged with orange.

The bride's table was centered with her cake made and decorated by Marie MacDougall trimed in orange to match the orange and brown bouquet arangements on the table.

A wedding dance followed for 400 guests.

The bride's going away costume was a turquoise two piece dress.

The couple left for a two week honey moon in B.C. and on to Seattle to see Harry Lauder, brother of the groom and his wife and family.

Out of town guests were from Valley View, Drayton Valley, Thorsby, Edmonton, Calgary and Creston B.C.

Catholic Masses

Why do most Catholics go to Mass each week? Are they "forced" to go, as some people say? Is there really a serious obligation of attending?

Hear the answer to these and other questions during the Sabbath services this week. Mass will be celebrated on Saturday, October 24th at 7p.m. and Sunday, October 25th at 10:00 a.m. All are welcomed.

Everybody wants to "older", but nobody wants to be old.

Potters Plan Exhibits

The second executive meeting of The Alberta Potters' Association was held on September 19th in Red Deer. The executive primarily dealt with the future activities of the Association, their decisions being guided by the results of questionnaires that had been distributed with the first newsletter to over 800 of Alberta's potters.

One of the initial concerns of the executive was to analyze the impact of their first newsletter. It was recognized that the newsletter had been a welcome communicating link for potters throughout the province.

The agenda of this meeting also included discussion on membership, finances, a symbol for the A.P.A., the legality of the constitution and reports from the regional representatives.

In discussing future activities of the A.P.A., the executive kept in mind the evident preference that activities be conducted mainly at the regional level. A travelling ceramic exhibition, with each region contributing an exhibit to go on circuit, was proposed. The first exhibit will be assembled by members from the Medicine Hat area.

STUDENTS PUT TRAINING IN USE

Starting October 16, Hunter Training-Conservation students from four Edmonton high schools will be putting into actual practice the things they learned in the classroom.

They'll be out in Alberta's wilds, living in spruce bough shelters, hunting, fishing and hiking. Part of the time they will be existing under "survival" conditions.

The participants, most of them Physical Education 30 students will be setting up camps at Beaver Lake near Lac La Biche, and Thunder Lake, west of Barrhead.

Outdoor class instruction will be handled by the students' regular teachers who have been qualified by the Department of Lands and Forests as Hunter Training-Conservation Instructors.

Government Hunter Training-Conservation Officers will assist in these outdoor workshops with supplementary instruction in survival techniques and general wood-lore.

DRIVE SAFELY & LIVE

Colorful Outdoors Movie Here Monday

Unique in motion picture history. A cast of hundreds -- every one a "star" but not one of them a great name.

It's Alaskan Safari, a brilliant color presentation with thrills, adventure and breath-taking moments in America's "last frontier". Alaskan Safari was filmed in the natural habitat of the brown bear, polar bear, moose, dall sheep, caribou, and combines hunting and fishing thrills with some of the continent's most brilliant scenery.

Outstanding photography was done at great risk by cameramen and bush pilots to bring you magnificent closeups of huge game animals. Unusual for this type of presentation is the direct sound track which brings to the audience a chilling scream of the bald eagle -- along with the hair-raising growls of bears and other sounds peculiar to the far north country.

Viewers are certain to be impressed by the air strips on tundra meadows, gravel bars and raw beaches from which Alaska's famed "bush pilots" take-off and land in pursuit of big game.

The movie will be shown at St. Anthony's School Auditorium on Monday, October 26th at 7:00 and 9:15 p.m.

SALMON DISAPPEARING

Unless firm action is taken, and fast, Canada's Atlantic Salmon likely will be extinct, reports Food in Canada business publication, quoting a federal fisheries official.

The three main areas of concern: indiscriminate raiding of the ocean feeding grounds of Greenland; continuous pollution of spawning rivers by industrial complexes in the Maritimes; irresponsible netting of spawning-bound salmon
